

Curling - No Guitar (Deluxe Edition) - lyrics

Shamble

I've been told
That's the way that it goes when you're dead to feeling
And holy shit
Someone needs to kick my ass
To get back that feeling

I've been down
Not enough
But I know
Still I try
To take this
Love of mine
And run
Take this
Once in a lifetime

On the desert plane of love
You lost your mind
Forever
Breathe out
Nothing

Pastoral

You say I'm a shapeshifter, out of touch
But you're afraid I'll change my mind
Like I did last time, and follow my heart

All those days are gone, right before your eyes, but you can't go back
Brave 'til you're not
How long can we do this?
Should I hope you'll let me down?

Go it alone
But you're too scared to be on your own
Just fucking say so (just the way you want it to)
Brave 'til you're not (just the way you like it, too)
But you're not (just the way you like it to)
You're not

Pop Song

Ooh, you love this
Taking shit from other people all day
Just breathing in

Lay down your little head
And submit to your loneliness now, alright forever

You know it's not so bad
On the precipice of crying and laughter
Oh god, I just lost my job
And in this heart of rot
Your loneliness is an echo chasing after
This fear
I'm destined to try

URDoM

If you've been bad at everything
You better try tonguing at the pain
Every night, these thoughts erase your mind
And you'll never know if your heart is swinging from a chain
It hangs
And the loneliness you've got to show them anyways
Because you're do-M

Reflector Mage

I lay there like a stranger
I never want to know or to be known
I am nothing

I wanna live life on my own jealousy
I'm trying to hurt you, but sometimes I don't know how
So how could a person ever be so mean?
It's just a reflection
Reflecting and staring back and
On my own is all I know

Dysfunction

Sometimes I'm a lover of all my dysfunction
I will index all the sharp spots and run my finger through
I'll tie the blades in little knots
Again they irritate me and I adore them still

Majesty

You came like a bolt from the blue
In dreams I dreamed only of you
There's something in her eyes
Love like you always know now

Under her painted heart, there's a love

To mend your broken body to Stay by her side when the world's turned to dust
Listen to her yearning
Beneath those painted eyes, all alone
Like her royal majesty
You'll be her light when the world's turned too dark
Listen to her yearning

Hi-Elixir

Hey, don't lose that longing
Lift up your head
There is life all around, can't you see?
I'd like to take you by the hand, especially when
You know that's not how it goes
And that you can't take back what you have never had

Adored, my love
Now that you're gone to sleep
Adorned, effortlessly
Took a lifetime to know that you're looking for a thrill
Tied down for a lullaby

Patience

It's not a love song
Not yet
Don't be defined by these chains when you realize shame:
That you're enamored with pain
Just take some time to realize
You could be happy
You could be anything

Washing away your lipstick and blush, that drugstore mascara
You're falling in love with someone
Just 'cause you're tired of innocence
All your days: lonesome
Effortless
It was always going to be like you wanted it to somehow

Don't be defined by these chains when you realize pain:
That you're enamored with shame

Husk

You are the husk of a pony today
Ethereal in the window out this dimension
If I could find you with these words, I'd talk
Outside of my minds four metal walls

I know it can't get better, all of this time living in the hollow of you
You are just an empty husk. I've been lost
Forever chasing what I'm not. Forever

Were you in this life to know?
Were you in this life void of all character?
If I could find you with these words, I'd talk
Outside of my mind's four metal walls

Hotel

I guess I'm no good to anyone right now
I try to give a love, but I'm never found
I only had a weakness that anyone who cared could see
Now, waiting around is never enough

I'll take a drive past the dead trees
Said I'd visit now and then
I never said I loved you
Not enough, anyways
You're singing carols to yourself
