CONQUEST CHRONO SKI EDITION

L3.850.4.52.9

The Conquest collection is expanding to include a chronograph released as a limited edition of 2,025 timepieces to mark the 48th FIS Alpine World Ski Championships in Saalbach.

The Conquest Chrono Ski Edition is powered by the exclusive Longines L898.5 calibre, which is equipped with a silicon balance-spring and innovative components for optimum resistance to magnetic fields. This resolutely sporty watch comes in a 42 mm stainless steel case adorned with polished and satin-brushed surfaces. Featuring a black ceramic insert and tachymetric bezel, this chronograph is water-resistant to 10 bar (100 m). Its vertical-satin-brushed anthracite dial contrasts with the black hue of the small seconds sub-dial at 3 o'clock and the counters at 6 and 9 o'clock. The dial is adorned with external snailing, an iconic design feature of the collection.

The emblem of the 48th FIS World Championships 2025 (a skier in action) is engraved in the centre of the watch's screw-down, angled case back. It is accompanied by the inscriptions "SAALBACH 2025 - FIS ALPINE WORLD SKI CHAMPIONSHIPS" and "LIMITED EDITION - ONE OF 2025", engraved around the edge of the case back.

This limited-edition timepiece can be worn with either a stainless steel bracelet with triple-security folding clasp, or a black rubber strap with double-security folding clasp featuring a micro-adjustment system. The Conquest Chrono Ski Edition and its accessories come in a special black box
