

STEFANO SOLLIMA

Biography

Sollima success arrived in 2008 with Romanzo Criminale - The Series, produced by Cattleya: the Italian series revolution began. Sold in more than 50 countries around the world the series gained enormous success from both critics and audiences, the rights have been sold for a remake in the USA.

In 2012 he debut on the big screen with the film ACAB - All Cops Are Bastards, drawn from the book by Carlo Bonini and produced by Cattleya.

In 2012 he started to direct Gomorra - The series, from the novel by Roberto Saviano, produced by Cattleya and Sky and sold in over 130 countries. The first season broadcasted in the USA on Sundance has been ranked among the best series of all time.

In 2015 he continued to direct the second season of Gomorra, which confirms the success of the first and has been compared to The Wire, Sopranos and House of Cards. Distributed in more than 150 countries, Gomorra is among the best TV series of 2016 according to the New York Times.

In 2015 he directed his second feature film, Suburra, based on the book by Giancarlo De Cataldo and Carlo Bonini, produced by Cattleya. In 2017 he made his debut in Hollywood as director of Soldado, a sequel to the Sicario movie, written by Taylor Sheridan, an Oscar candidate for Hell or High Water, with Benicio del Toro and Josh Brolin.

Currently he is writing the new ZeroZeroZero series for Cattleya, drawn from Roberto Saviano's novel and in co-production with Canal +, working with a team of international screenwriters, as Mauricio Katz, Max Hunwitz, Leonardo Fasoli. The shooting is scheduled for the beginning of 2018.