		Statement by Commissioner Vella: "The different players around one table, thinking about how to work together to the sustainable city. That in itself is already a major step forward."
		Statement by Paul Ekins, Professor of Resources and Environmental Policy, University College of London: "60% of the Urban build environment and infrastructure that will exist in 2050, still remains to be build. That it is only through green cities that we will get high human well-being, high quality of life, good food and good health. Thank you Bristol and Ljubljana what you have achieved. "
00:03:32	00:04:03	Statement by Tjasa Ficko, Deputy Mayor of Ljubljana: "It is important to have a vision, to have a dream but there is other thing that I believe is more important and it is harder to achieve and that is to have the courage to implement this vision and have the courage to put your dream into reality."
		Statement by Commissioner Karmenu Vella: "The idea of bringing nature right into the city is something that we need to do more and more. So there are winners from the environmental side, winners from the social side as well as winners from the economic side."
00:04:04	00:04:07	Guest greeting before leaving

00:04:08	00:04:32	Statement by Commissioner Karmenu: "Taking care of the environment means taking care of our citizens, improving their well-being, which at the end of the day is the most important thing. Because of the European Union cooperation, we live in towns and we live in cities. Unless we take care of our towns and cities, we will not be taking care of at least two thirds of our citizens."
