Calgary set to host Saskatchewan in Huskies' Hardy return

Dinos making 11th consecutive appearance; Saskatchewan in first Hardy since 2009

The two most decorated programs in Canada West football history are set to meet in the 82nd Hardy Cup at McMahon Stadium this Saturday.

The 17-time champion Calgary Dinos host the Saskatchewan Huskies, who have a record 18 trophies in their display case. Calgary is trying for a third straight title and ninth in the last 11 years, while the Huskies are in their first conference championship game since 2009 and are looking to win the Hardy Cup for the first time since 2006.

From season's outset, the Dinos focused on playing in the Canada West championship game for an 11th year in a row and haven't blinked. Coach Wayne Harris' squad won all eight of its regular season games to place atop the standings, then knocked out the Manitoba Bisons 37-13 in a semifinal at McMahon Stadium last Saturday.

Fresh off a stirring 31-28 overtime triumph over UBC at Thunderbird Stadium in last Saturday's semifinal – the first career post-season victory for coach Scott Flory – the Huskies are riding a wave of momentum. Saskatchewan won its final two regular season games by a combined 66 points to finish third with a 5-3 record.

The Dinos and Huskies ranked first and second, respectively, on both sides of the ball during the 2018 season. Calgary racked up 4,491 (570.9 per game) yards of total offence and scored 352 (44) points, while holding the opposition to 3,104 (388) yards and 139 (17.4) points. Saskatchewan totaled 3,903 (492.6) yards on offence while scoring 258 (32.3) points, compared to 3,359 (419.9) yards and 174 (21.8) points by its opponents.

Both rosters feature many student-athletes at, or near the top of CW statistical categories. Calgary quarterback Adam Sinagra threw for a conference-record 3,233 yards, while his favourite target Hunter Karl was the leading receiver in Canada West with 937 yards.

Saskatchewan's Tyler Chow ranked first with 640 yards rushing, while Colton Klassen led all receivers with eight touchdowns. Huskies' lineman Tristian Koronkiewicz had a conference-best seven sacks, just ahead of second-place Joel Van Pelt of the Dinos, who had six.

Sinagra had 368 yards passing in Calgary's semifinal win, as the Dinos out-scored Manitoba 20-3 over the final 30 minutes of the game to seal the victory. The sibling duo of Jalen and Tyson Philpot helped lead the way, combining for 214 receiving yards.

With his team trailing by seven to UBC in the final minute, Saskatchewan pivot Kyle Siemens engineered a game-tying drive that saw Chow pick up a first down on three consecutive plays. Sean Stenger won the game with a 38-yard field goal in the first overtime.

Calgary and Saskatchewan met twice during the regular season, with the Dinos prevailing on both occasions: 37-28 at Griffiths Stadium on Sept. 14, and 33-13 in Calgary two weeks later.

These storied teams have clashed for the Hardy Cup on four occasions over the last 30 years. Calgary defeated the Huskies at McMahon Stadium in 1988, and 1995, along with a road win in 2009, while Saskatchewan's lone championship victory over the Dinos came in Saskatoon back in 1994. This is the ninth straight year the Dinos have hosted the Canada West football championship game, while the Huskies are appearing in the Hardy Cup for the first time in nine years.

The Hardy Cup champ advances to the Mitchell Bowl on Nov. 17, traveling to face the Ontario University Athletics champion. The Guelph Gryphons and defending Vanier Cup champion Western Mustangs clash in the OUA championship game – the Yates Cup – this Saturday. The Mitchell Bowl victor moves on to the Vanier Cup on Nov. 24 in Quebec City.

QUICK HITTERS

PLAYOFF SKID OVER

The Huskies snapped an eight-game playoff losing skid with their win last week against UBC. Since Sask's last Hardy Cup appearance, the conference's other four teams have all faced Calgary at least once in the championship game.

OVERTIME CONTESTS

There have been just three OT games in Hardy Cup history. Two of those three games have involved the Huskies and Dinos (1988, 1995). All-time, Saskatchewan has played four OT games in the playoffs, while Calgary has three OT games to their name.

HARDY HOST ALL THE TIME

McMahon Stadium has become the standing home of the Hardy Cup. The last time the CW championship game wasn't played in the Stampede City was back in 2009, when Saskatoon's Griffiths Stadium hosted the event for the seventh time.

MITCHELL BOWL LOOMING

The winner of Saturday's game will advance to the U SPORTS national semifinal, the Mitchell Bowl. Calgary is 2-3 in their last five trips to the national semis, while Saskatchewan went 4-1 during their string of success between 1999 and 2006.
