

#AtHomeWithNeumann – Free Live Webinars: Microphone Basics

Berlin/Wedemark, 2 April 2020:

In cooperation with the Sennheiser SoundAcademy, Neumann will be offering detailed webinars on the basics of microphone technology over the coming weeks. In three one-hour sessions, trainer John McGregor will discuss all important aspects of Neumann studio microphones: Starting with the most important theoretical principles, through practical tips and application hints, to product care and maintenance.

As we all take care to stay safe and stay home, this is an excellent opportunity to expand or refresh one's skills and knowledge. The first session will be available on Friday, April 3 at three different times (8.30, 13.30 and 18.00 CET). The other two sessions will follow on April 17 and 24. All webinars will be presented in English.
