ReachYourPeak – Jakob Schubert

What fascinates you about climbing?

Climbing is so diverse; it never gets boring. And it's just a lot of fun to try a boulder problem or route together with friends, pushing each other and learning from each other.

What's driving you?

Climbing is a very complex sport. I feel like I can still get better, maybe not physically but I can climb smarter, improve that way. That's what makes it so exciting.

What is your biggest dream?

I have many: I want to climb even harder routes, I love adventure and want to travel to more amazing rock-climbing areas, and I want to become the first Olympic climbing gold medalist.
