

Fast Facts: Schoology Assessment Management Platform in Higher Ed)

- Schoology offers an integrated learning management and assessment management system enabling college administrators, faculty, and students to coordinate curriculum and assessment in one system. Schoology integrated learning management and assessment management into one system so that faculty can measure student mastery with efficiency and ease.
- Assessments with Schoology AMP can be authored at the college, department, or course level:
 - Includes options for true/false, multiple choice, matching, ordering, short answer/essay, fill-in-the-blank, and more including math question formats for formulas, numberline, chart, short answer and more
 - Can be aligned to custom grading scales or rubrics which can tie directly into the course gradebook should the teacher choose to use the assessment as a grading opportunity
 - When authored at the district level, assessments can be used to determine effectiveness of a curriculum, while also giving the instructor data he or she can use to adjust instruction for individuals or groups of students.
- Schoology provides all stakeholders the data they need to take action and improve student outcomes. With real-time reports, everyone can work together to have an immediate and positive impact on the learning experience.
- Schoology AMP is far more sophisticated than simply connecting to third-party assessment tools via APIs. Schoology AMP is a natively developed and fully integrated, embedded assessment platform that extends Schoology's ability to drive truly informed instruction.
- Schoology's AMP is significant for many reasons including:
 - removing the need for multiple logins which interrupts the educational experience across systems

- allowing data to be shared between stakeholders in the education process: teachers, administrators and students
- allowing the development of centrally managed assessments that match curriculum maps and rubrics and are delivered within the normal workflow of courses
- allowing fast and easy importing of third-party question banks or the development of questions within Schoology itself
- alignment with rubrics for grading and standards to facilitate holistic and thorough evaluation
- Schoology Assessment Management Platform gives the same centrally managed assessments to all students participating in a given course— regardless of which section the students are in across the campus, ensuring consistency of rigor and student success. Functionality includes the ability to:
 - Create and manage reusable question banks
 - Build assessments that draw from question banks
 - Distribute one centrally managed assessment to course sections across multiple schools or campuses within an organization
 - Analyze assessment results at the institution level
