

Media Alert

For immediate release: Thursday, May 4, 2017

Calling emerging weather specialists

Do you have a passion for all things weather? Can you communicate complex science in everyday language?

Applications are now open for a dynamic, motivated Senior Reporter and Producer to join our ABC Regional team, to provide specialised weather stories in regional and rural communities across Australia, and make the all-important science behind the weather as accessible as possible to our audiences.

Both positions will be based in regional Australia and will be responsible for initiating and sourcing weather stories and related long-form content for digital and broadcast platforms.

These two unique positions are in addition to the first batch of regionally-based roles that were advertised last week, announced as part of the ABC's Investing in Audiences strategy.

View full job information for weather roles: Senior Reporter and Senior Producer.

For a full list of the new regional roles visit <http://www.abc.net.au/careers/>
Visit our social media video at <https://www.facebook.com/abc/videos/10154963215249550/>

For more information please contact:
Wendy McKillop 0412 211 011 or mckillop.wendy@abc.net.au