Welcome to October at IKEA

This month we're embracing our Scandinavian roots and furnishing in a minimalist, functionalist way. We're blending traditional and modern styles, and adding some bold colours in the mix.

Textiles are big this launch, from cushions to quilt covers, many feature a Swedish handicraft pattern. Children can also delight in two new textile collections. Our new room darkening curtains help provide privacy in a lovely punch of colour, while our beige rug adds softness underfoot and takes us closer to a more sustainable future being based on recycled PET bottles.

Among the news we're also welcoming a storage family in a traditional style, a coordinating desk and a swivel chair that works by the dining table too. You can renew the kitchen with a matte grey-green front, or add a playful birch stool for extra guests. Other news includes ceramics, dinnerware, lighting and more. No matter what style, the news brings a breath of fresh design at a price that's hard to beat. Enjoy!

KYRRE stool

Stools are great when you have extra guests around, but only little space. KYRRE stool has a modern, playful look with tapered legs and a triangle seat. It's smart as you can stack it away at the end of the day. Made from sustainably sourced birch, it goes very well in a Scandinavian-styled home.

Be ready for extra guests with KYRRE stool designed in a playful look with tapered legs and a triangle seat — made from sustainably sourced birch.

ODGER swivel chair

Many people work by the dining table on a dining chair, because of limited space at home. With ODGER swivel chair we wanted to create a chair that can blend into a dining solution too. Its design and materials coordinate with ODGER dining chair, so the two chairs can live side by side around the same table.

ODGER swivel chair is comfortable to sit on thanks to its bowl-shaped seat, rounded back and armrests. The swivel and seat height can be adjusted with a gas lift. And just like the dining chair, it's made of renewable wood and recycled plastic. The chair is available in white/beige or black, so it can work with many different types of desks or dining tables.

LOMMARP desk

Whether working from home, writing creative fiction or taking care of bills, LOMMARP desk provides a neat workspace in a beautiful design. It has a traditional style with crafted details combined with a large practical drawer and cable management holder. The size of the desk lets it blend into many corners of the home, just like its subtle colours in dark blue-green and beige.

The bookcase, cabinet and cabinet with glass doors are available in subtle beige or dark blue-green. Let them be part of modern life, while offering a hint of another time.

SANELA curtains

Lush cotton velvet isn't only nice to the touch, but is thick enough to prevent light from coming through. In SANELA room darkening curtains the material helps provide privacy, and can be used by a window or as a room divider. In light-brown red or dark blue, the curtains add a lovely punch of colour to the room.

PH164324.JPG SANELA room darkening curtains, 1 pair 69,99 Light brown-red 704.444.85

With a lovely punch of colour, SANELA room darkening curtains are made of cotton from more sustainable sources.

SPORUP rug

Who could imagine that SPORUP rug, with its soft pile and rich colour, is based on polyester from recycled PET bottles? Using waste as a resource helps us to create goodness underfoot.

SPORUP rug is made with a pattern that's both visual and tactile thanks to the rib construction. The fine yarn is densely tufted into a pile that's durable and incredibly soft. Use the light beige rug as a perfect companion for all types of flooring, even those with underfloor heating.

PH164465.JPG SPORUP rug, low pile 49,99 W133×L195cm. 704.534.51

PH164464.JPG SPORUP rug, low pile 49,99 W133×L195cm. 704.534.51

SPORUP rug is available in three sizes based on either 320, 500 or 750 recycled PET bottles. By using recycled PET bottles in this product, we consume less new raw materials and lower our environmental footprint. All products containing recycled materials meet the same quality and safety demands as we have on all our products.

BODARP kitchen front

When installing a new kitchen or giving your old kitchen a makeover, why not go for a modern grey-green look? BODARP kitchen fronts not only give a fresh style, but do so in a more sustainable way as the foil on the fronts is based on recycled PET-bottles. And when the fronts were produced, they used 100% renewable electricity. With their matte surface that's nice to the touch, you can feel good about this new kitchen in many ways.

The foil on BODARP fronts is based on recycled PET bottles. This is a step towards the IKEA goal to only use recycled and/or renewable based materials by 2030.

STRIMMIG dinnerware

Choosing the right dinnerware can be a way to decorate the table and set the tone for the dinner. STRIMMIG dinnerware has a floral relief pattern inspired by Scandinavian and Japanese simplicity. The designer Jennifer Idrizi explains how she worked with developing the series:

"My background as an artist and ceramist made working with STRIMMIG a dream job. I simultaneously worked with shapes, surface patterns and glaze in order to get everything just right. The flower patterns are inspired by Scandinavian flora and Japanese simplicity, making the look modern and clean — with a crafted feel. You can use the entire series together or choose your favourite part. For me, STRIMMIG is a tribute to the materials and art form of ceramics!"

The dinnerware is available in different earthenware colours that provide great opportunities for mixing and matching.

GODTAGBAR ceramics

History comes together in GODTAGBAR ceramics that take their shape from traditional functional items. There are vases of different sizes and a candlestick, all made of durable, hand-painted stoneware. The vases are inspired by iconic and robust forms such as old mason jars and milk jugs, as the designer Jennifer Idrizi explains:

"When I designed the GODTAGBAR collection, I began by looking at classic vase forms through Scandinavian history. My vision was to make the vases myself using traditional ceramic techniques and add a modern twist in the way the glaze is applied. The expressiveness of the handmade techniques are captured in the forms and carried through to mass production. Craftsmanship placed in a modern context that enhances every occasion!"

RAMSELE pendant lamps

Transform your lighting experience by the simple pulling of some strings. RAMSELE pendant lamps are a sure design statement in shapes that resemble a magical flower or geometric masterpiece. Made with sheets of felt or textile, the shapes change in an exciting way and the light is dimmed when the cords are pulled. The designer David Wahl talks about his inspiration:

"RAMSELE pendant lamp is based on a geometric shape known as a dodecahedron and consists of twelve pentagons. My idea was to use this shape to create an interesting lamp that provides both unreserved and constricting looks, and after many attempts I found the right balance. By pulling a cord, you can dim the lamp – and at the same time change its shape. An exciting choice of materials gives RAMSELE a distinctive look that I hope many people like."

RÖDHAKE baby textiles

For the baby's nursery, we're launching a textile series with traditional patterns inspired by Swedish fairytales. Little illustrated rabbits are found hopping across muslin squares, while a mouse sails across bedlinen for a cot. RÖDHAKE series includes all those textiles that can be needed at the start of life, such as a baby towel with hood, sleeping bag and washcloth. There's also a bed canopy to place over a cradle, cot or bed where you create a calm place that makes the child's room extra cosy, like in a fairy tale.

Children need sleep to grow, gain energy and feel good. That's why creating a safe and secure sleeping environment is so important. The soft RÖDHAKE quilt covers are woven from pure natural materials. A good choice for children — and for our planet.
