FROM THE ARTISTIC DIRECTOR

Good stories. Good energy. High standards. Years of experience. Talented staff. Good people. Community support. Love for our building. Appreciation for our blessings. And respect for our audiences.

Some of the qualities that make the Belfry the Belfry. Some of the reasons we can program plays like A Doll's House, Part 2. Some of what we love about a new theatre season.

To many of you: welcome back. To some of you: welcome for the first time. This is one play in a season of plays — the first course in a banquet we have planned and toiled over. You can enjoy this play or a couple of plays — but I have to believe that seeing all of the plays in the season will be the fullest, most gratifying experience.

Welcome to the 2018–2019 Belfry Theatre season.

May it delight your palate!

Michael

FROM THE EXECUTIVE DIRECTOR

Welcome to the beginning of our newest season. And what better way to begin but with an extraordinary new play that creates a new vision of a classic drama. A play that maintains its historical setting while revising itself to look into the future.

As a company we like to think of the Belfry as an organization that protects our heritage, this magnificent building, while focusing on the future. As a contemporary theatre, we have modernized our interior with a contemporary design aesthetic with a focus on our patrons' comforts. That modernization continues, with the upgrading of the Stewart Theatre's heating and air conditioning this past summer.

As we look forward into our future, we must continue to rejuvenate our facility and equipment by modernizing our 30 to 40 year-old production equipment, replacing our 27 year-old seating in the Studio Theatre, and undertaking further renovations to improve accessibility to our activities and especially to our beautiful heritage home.

I look forward to talking to all of you, our generous patrons, in the coming months about our plans to make your experience of the Belfry even more enjoyable, comfortable and universally accessible than it is. In the meantime enjoy this remarkable modern take on the future life of a classic play.

SYNOPSIS OF IBSEN'S A DOLL'S HOUSE

You don't need to know Ibsen's A Doll's House to understand and engage with Part 2, but here's a synopsis just the same...

Torvald, a pillar of society, is a model husband, father, and citizen. His sweet household, with three darling children and Nora — his affectionate little doll of a wife — is the ideal of happy family life.

One of Nora's earliest acts of devotion to her husband has been the secret raising of money to enable him to spend a year in Italy to restore his health. She persuaded him that the money was a gift from her father, when in fact she obtained it from a money lender named Krogstad. Krogstad refused to make the loan unless her father endorsed the promissory note. This being impossible, as her father was dying at the time, Nora forged his name. The money lender, though not at all duped, knew that forged bills are often the surest to be paid. Since then, Nora has slaved in secret at scrivener's work until she has nearly paid off the debt.

At this point, Torvald is made manager of the bank, and almost immediately fires Krogstad, who is known as a man of weak moral fibre. Krogstad threatens to expose Nora's forgery unless she can convince her husband to reinstate him at the bank. When Nora's pleas on Krogstad's behalf are unsuccessful, he sends a letter to Torvald revealing Nora's crime. Nora resolves to kill herself, rather than allow Torvald to destroy his career by owning the crime in order to save her reputation. Instead of pursuing this line of conduct when he hears of the forgery, Torvald flies into a rage and heaps invective on Nora for disgracing him.

Nora realizes that their whole family life has been a fiction: their home a mere doll's house in which they have been playing at ideal husband and father, wife and mother. She decides to leave him then and there and go out into the world as a single woman to discover who she really is and what life is all about. Nora slams the door behind her — a sound that echoed around the globe. —Michael Shamata

We invite you to join the wonderful people in the Belfry Legacy Society by making a planned gift to your favourite theatre. Gift planning is an inspired, meaningful and deeply personal way to secure the future of the Belfry Theatre. The support of visionary philanthropy ensures that the Belfry will continue to flourish as Greater Victoria's premier contemporary theatre company.

Consult your professional advisors about the many forms through which you can achieve tax advantages of charitable donations and bequests. Please inform us if you have included the Belfry in your estate plans, as we would love to acknowledge your support during and/or after your lifetime according to your wishes, as well as invite you to special events.
