READY-TO-WEAR

Fall Winter 2025

Paris

For the upcoming autumn/winter season, Maison Natan has designed a wardrobe to accompany the contrasting moments of our dynamic days. Whether for casual or formal occasions, the collection offers impeccably crafted, sophisticated, and comfortable pieces that are timeless yet infused with the trendy accents that spark desire.

Among the iconic pieces of this new line are designs in a natural autumnal color palette, featuring Natan's signature green, khaki, warm chestnut hues, and floral touches of sky blue and soft pink. The long dress stands out as the season's statement piece—at Natan, elegance is never far, even in everyday wear. Another highlight is the reinvention of the tailored suit, a beloved staple among Natan's clientele. The house brings structure into ready-to-wear, enhanced by the craftsmanship of its dedicated ateliers in Brussels.

The collection showcases blazers inspired by the finest tailoring traditions, precisely cut coats, and softened shoulders for an effortless, lightweight silhouette. For a sense of movement and sensuality, scarf dresses drape and tie at the neckline, offering adjustable necklines and a fluidity that redefines winter dressing. Luxurious fabrics take center stage, from deep velvet and soft jersey to silky wool, structured scuba, printed silk with abstract animal motifs, textured jacquard, and vegan leather.

To ensure ease of movement, the collection introduces delicately tailored blouse-and-trousers ensembles and playful pleated A-line skirts. With an eye for precision and refinement, Maison Natan creates silhouettes that enhance the figure without constraint. This season, the House reaffirms its commitment to a pure and timeless aesthetic—one that celebrates essential elegance rather than minimalism.
