FROM THE ARTISTIC DIRECTOR

I would like to thank you for the exceptional response to A Doll's House, Part 2. I know the play engendered a lot of discussion and debate. I call that a success! Actors floating ideas from the stage to the audience – and an audience receiving those ideas as a group – aware of those around them having their own reactions to the same ideas – is one of the most glorious aspects of theatre. In fact, I think it's what theatre is all about.

Theatre is also about using your imagination. It's about looking at a set that you know was built in a carpentry shop and painted by scenic artists; a set that is pretending to be anything from an orphanage in a Jewish Ghetto to a baby store in Vancouver. That set is just wood and paint. And you know it! The magic only happens when you agree to play along and believe it is what we say it is.

And so here we are with a play where imagination and reality collide. A comedy – because theatre is also about laughter. In this case, it's about laughing at some of life's most difficult moments. Laughter is cathartic, and when a writer can make us see the comic in the painful, the laughter comes from a deeper place.

Welcome to this wonderful cast, this team of great designers, and our director, Stephen Drover, making his Belfry Theatre debut! And a thank you to our partners on this production, the Arts Club Theatre in Vancouver.

Michael

FROM THE EXECUTIVE DIRECTOR

This journey of imagination is the latest in a long and growing list of new Canadian plays produced by the Belfry. Among the many things that we do, the commissioning, development and production of new work by Canadian playwrights is one of the most gratifying and challenging. Whether, like with this production of Mustard, it is a new production of a recently premiered work, or if it is the full process of commission, workshopping, and premiering of a new play, the investment of time, money and care remains a cornerstone of our commitment in presenting you with funny, challenging, sad, and joyous professional theatre.

We have our funders: government, business, foundation, individual donors and our audiences to thank for supporting our ability to be the best contemporary theatre that we know. Thank you and enjoy!

Ivan

She wrote for the second season of Kim's Convenience, is developing a handful of features and has an original show in development with eOne and an adaptation in development with Shaftesbury.

Thank you!

The following individuals and groups have contributed to our 2017–2018 Capital upgrades.

The maintenance and improvements needed to ensure that your Belfry Theatre continues to be one of the most cherished and admired theatres in the country continue. This summer we replaced our heating and ventilation system for the Patrick Stewart Theatre, and this fall we made an upgrade to our hearing assist system. We will soon embark on upgrades to our Studio Theatre. Future needs and dreams include replacement of the stage lighting systems to bring us up to date (and greatly reduce our energy requirements), as well as new sound equipment to support our productions.

We invite you to join the wonderful people in the Belfry Legacy Society by making a planned gift to your favourite theatre. Gift planning is an inspired, meaningful and deeply personal way to secure the future of the Belfry Theatre. The support of visionary philanthropy ensures that the Belfry will continue to flourish as Greater Victoria's premier contemporary theatre company.

Consult your professional advisors about the many forms through which you can achieve tax advantages of charitable donations and bequests. Please inform us if you have included the Belfry in your estate plans, as we would love to acknowledge your support during and/or after your lifetime according to your wishes, as well as to invite you to special events. For more information on planning your gift to the Belfry Theatre, please contact:
