Due to Covid-19 measures rules may change last minute

A group of people wearing yellow t-shirts and hats are performing a human pyramid outdoors. One person is standing on the left, with their legs raised high. Another person is standing on their feet, with their arms reaching up to hold the legs of the person on the left. A third person is standing on their hands, with their arms reaching up to hold the arms of the person on the left. A fourth person is standing on their hands, with their arms reaching up to hold the arms of the person on the right. The background shows a modern building with large windows and some greenery.
